TARGETED READERSHIP

The SA Schools Collection is a prestigious annual showcase publication targeted primarily at parents who need to make crucial decisions concerning their children's future.

Providing a comprehensive directory of independent and public schools countrywide, the magazine showcases the facilities, ethos and foundations of many of South Africa's educational institutions, including universities, universities of technology and FET colleges.

Topical issues relating to education are included in the editorial content and are aimed specifically at bringing parents up to date with current trends in the education arena.

ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITIES

While the majority of advertisers are schools, limited advertising opportunities are available to a select number of advertisers of education related products and services. The following are an example of advertisers who would benefit by reaching this market:

- Suppliers of learning materials
- Suppliers of stationery
- Suppliers of computer software and hardware
- Suppliers of clothing, uniforms and sporting goods
- Extra-curricular learning centres such as sport, occupational therapies, speech, drama and music
- Companies providing financial assistance/insurance/savings products for educational needs.
