In association with the BLACK MANAGEMENT FORUM

For the past 44 years, since 1976, the BLACK MANAGEMENT FORUM has been at the forefront of developing managerial leadership and advancing socioeconomic transformation in SA.

Today, it's renewed focus is on the practical steps needed to implement progressive transformation policies within corporate South Africa and beyond. It will conduct a transformation study, establish a litigation fund that will develop test cases for transformation, and formulate a comprehensive proposal for the establishment of a sovereign wealth fund.

BMF president, Andile Nomlala says: "We want to be a sounding board for the state and business. We will provide solutions and not just endlessly diagnose problems. We will also continue to be a watchdog for good governance and transformation."

Sunday Times EMPOWERMENT focuses on policy and organisational change as it impacts diversity and transformation within our corporate and political landscape.

The publication questions the slow pace of change and showcases the companies, organisation and individuals championing empowerment within the workplace, economy, and broader leadership.
